

Dear FCC Commissioners & Staff:

I am a small isp ( 3000 + customers) in Terre Haute Indiana.

It is served by Verizon Telephone company.

I depend on access to there network in order to provide service to my clients.

After being told that I had to invest 10k to upgrade my equipment to access there DSL network and told if I do not I cannot connect to it. SO I did. Now, that I have pricing has dropped and Verizon provide dsl for $7.95 to $10.00 for there base internet dsl account. I cannot seem to find a way to pay my bills and charge so little cause of the cost they charge there customers. The DSL accounts I have are because I can do specialized routing and static IP distribution for little to know cost... period. HOwever the general moarket has been shut down because of price. My Sales rep for Verizon, said ' they want to eliminate the small guys'. Dialup access is supporting my company of 3 employs now but in the future because of the unfair tarriffs on DSL and cost of accessing I will loose my comapny and Customers will suffer mostly because services I provide will no longer be available.

Sincerely,

Matthew R. Cialdella
